

ABSTRACT

There is provided an in-vivo device, for example an imaging device, configured with operation blocking capability to prevent the reuse of such device or to prevent a reactivation of such device after such device has s completed a medical examination.